XIV. Paragraph

AUDIOSCRIPTS

Part 1.

Friend: Anne, have you been to that new shopping centre?

Anne: The Forest Centre?

Friend: No. I mean Queen's, the new one near the river.

Anne: Oh. I've seen the advertisement. It's got the largest café and bookshop in the country.

Friend: It will have. Only the clothes shops are open this month.

Anne: Well, that's OK. But it's at least thirty kilometres away and I haven't got a car.

Friend: Well, there is a coach once a week.

Anne: Is there? I can get that if it's not on Saturday. I have to work then.

Friend: It goes on Tuesday. But it's best to get your ticket on Monday.

Anne: Is the ticket expensive?

Friend: Ten pounds eighty for adults, two pounds fifty for children and only five pounds sixty for students like you.

Anne: Not bad. Does it go from the bus station?

Friend: Yes, and it stops in Market Square and outside the museum in Broad Street.

Anne: Oh, good. I'll get it there. Broad Street is really near my house. Does it leave early?

Friend: Twenty past nine and you get to the shopping centre forty minutes later at ten o'clock.

Anne: Great!

Part 2.

Susanna: Hi, Mum. This is Susanna. I know you're going shopping this afternoon. Can you get something for me? I need a white T-shirt for the school tennis match tomorrow. We all have to wear white, and I haven't got one. You can get them in Davey's – that's D A V E Y S – it's a new shop in the High Street. It's not far from the car park – you can go there before you go to the supermarket. You know the cinema? Well, it's next to that. It's easy to find.

There are three sizes – small, medium and large. My old one was a small but I'm a lot bigger now, so could you buy me a large one, please?

I hope you can get it – I can't play in the match without it. It's not expensive, it only costs eight pounds ninety-nine. I'll give you the money tonight.

Thanks a lot, Mum. See you later. Bye.
